

The background of the page is a collage. It features several close-up, black and white photographs of children's faces, mostly looking upwards with expressions of awe or wonder. These faces are arranged around the perimeter of the page. In the center, there is a large, faint, and somewhat ethereal image of a figure with long, flowing hair and wings, resembling an angel or a cherub, with arms outstretched. The overall tone is soft and contemplative.

the World of Darkness innocents

NOTES